

Revision – Do as much as you can.

June 22nd – 26th

Outside play: Edible gooey worms: Cook some spaghetti/noodles like you normally would but do not let it fully cook, keeping some firmness in the pasta will keep it from going like mush. Rinse the pasta well with cold water to remove any excess starch. Next, lay the pasta out on a towel to dry and let it cool for a few minutes. Fill a container with a sauce of your choice e.g. chocolate pudding. Mix the sauce with the pasta. Hide some items in it e.g. plastic bugs and encourage them to rescue the bugs! Explore how stretchy the 'gooey worms' are/how many gooey worms can be put into a bowl/cup. Gooey worm tug of war – Get them to grasp one end of the worm, you grasp the other end and encourage them to pull – see who ends up with the most gooey worms!

Sensory play: 'Soap swamp' – Grate half a bar of soap and have 3 or 4 sheets of coloured tissue paper ready as well as 2 cups of water. Encourage the boys to rip the tissue paper into pieces. Mix the grated soap and tissue together. Add half a cup of water to make the mixture bind together. Add more tissue paper if too watery. (This is really good for their fine motor skills as they rip the paper and mash the soap slime with their fingers).

Art: Draw or print a kite template and let the boys decorate it as they wish. They could use paint/crayons/markers/stickers/torn tissue paper – whatever you have. Pinterest have some nice ideas also, just search 'kite art preschool'. You could play the song 'Kite song/Eli kids song and nursery rhymes compilations' on Youtube as they do their art 😊
